Secure Your Data with Managed Backup Service

Elevate your enterprise's data protection strategies with HKBNES's Managed Backup Service. This solution unburdens your company from the complexities of data security, offering an all-encompassing backup and recovery platform. With robust features such as Ransomware Protection, Real-time Blocking for Known Ransomware, and a continuously updated Threat Intelligence Library managed by Alibaba Cloud, our managed services enable your business to offload the critical responsibility of data backups and overall data integrity to seasoned professionals.

At the same time, businesses retain great flexibility to configure backup and data protection policies tailored to their specific needs. Customized backup frequencies, retention periods, and storage locations can be defined based on business requirements and compliance regulations. This empowers businesses to address their unique data protection needs without the hassle of managing backups in-house.
